

HARMONY NOW IS PREDICTED

Rome Agog at the Possible Friendship Between the State and Vatican.

MAY MEAN PEACE

The Two Have Been Widely Separated for Several Years, Through Legal Difficulties.

(Special By Scripps-McRae.) The Pontiff's body was given to the high church dignitaries and diplomats of the Roman aristocracy this morning. The throne room was filled with the distinguished guests, who paid their last tribute to the dead pope.

Surprises All
The removal of the urn containing the viscera to the Quirinal church, is being widely commented upon as this is a parish church of the Kings palace. Some believe it presages church harmony between the church and state more friendly relations in the future.

Removed to St. Peter's
This evening the body will be taken to the throne room to St. Peter's church. Meanwhile the noble guard which it with sword-bearers. The second convocation of the cardinals was held this morning. Last night the Pope's will was opened and the disposal of his personal property was made public by cardinal Gregorio.

INDIANS STRIKE GOLD ON INDEPENDENCE DAY

Greatest Find of the Year in the Yukon Country Causes Great Rush to the Scene.

Tacoma, Wash., July 22.—The greatest gold strike of the year in the Yukon country was made July 4 by Dawson Charley and another Indian on a tributary of the Alsek river, near Lake Arkell. They discovered placer ground yielding 25 cents per pan on surface, getting richer with depth.

The Indians intended keeping their find secret until they could prospect thoroughly, but one of their companions went to White Horse, giving the news to white men, who hurried to these new diggings, fully verifying the richness of the ground.

A great stampede is now in progress, resulting in almost depopulating White Horse and other Yukon towns. Stampedeers are hurrying forward afoot, on horseback and by steamers, which can ascend Tahkeena and Mendenhall rivers to within twenty miles of the strike. Fourth of July and Ruby creeks have been entirely staked.

MONSTER SEA BASS F. J. Bailey's Big Catch Just Received From Taxidermist

To prove that his fish story was genuine, F. J. Bailey of the firm of Bort, Bailey & Co., had a big sea bass mounted which he hooked off the coast of Florida, in the Gulf of Mexico last winter.

The sea monster only recently arrived in the city from the taxidermist in Florida and is being exhibited by Mr. Bailey to his friends. The creature weighed 204 pounds and is what is known as the "black sea bass." It was caught with a light rod and reel with a No. 7 silk line after 2 hours and 10 minutes hard fighting. It measures 50 inches about the girth and is 5 feet 6 inches in length.

PHILIPPINE SCOUTS ROUT ALBAY REBELS

Fierce Battle in the Streets Results in the Utter Defeat of the Filipinos.

Manila, July 22.—The Philippine scouts and rural constabulary defeated 250 rebels in the streets of Albay, the capital of the island of Albay, killing fifteen and wounding fifteen. The combatants entered the town from opposite sides and street fighting continued for three hours. The engagement was most spirited and at the end the streets were filled with wounded.

Four noncombatants were killed. The scouts lost one killed and two wounded. The rebels were led by Simeon Ola, chief of the Albay rebels, and they had fifty rifles.

Col. H. H. Banholtz, formerly captain of the Second Infantry, who was in command of the scouts and constabulary, has been campaigning actively in Albay, but this was the first decisive engagement he has had.

Twenty-five native priests, who seceded from the Catholic church in 1902 because of the failure of the church to appoint a native bishop, have refused to join the Aglipay movement and will continue their Catholic rites, while refusing to acknowledge the papal authority.

The Irish land bill has passed its third reading in the house of commons by a vote of 317 to 20.

COOL WEATHER CHECKS GROWTH

Crops Slow To Mature Due To Unseasonable Conditions—Good Corn Advance.

(Special By Scripps-McRae.) Washington, July 22.—The following is the official weekly crop report issued by the department of agriculture: While the temperature in the central valleys, the lake region, and the Atlantic coast districts has averaged considerably below the normal, no unfavorable effects from cool weather are apparent except in portions of the middle and south Atlantic states, where growth was checked to some extent. The need of rain continues in portions of the lower Ohio and central Mississippi valleys, North Dakota, northern Minnesota, and western Texas, and is beginning to be felt in the central gulf states, Oklahoma, southwestern Kansas, and portions of the Carolinas.

Storms Cause Damage.
Local storms in places, accompanied by hail, proved damaging in the upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys. The condition on the Pacific coast were favorable, although light frosts caused slight damage in Washington during the early part of the week.

Corn has made favorable advancement in all districts, but in the principal corn states it is variable as to size and conditions, being generally small, especially in the central and eastern districts of the corn belt. As a rule the crop is in good state of cultivation except in the upper Ohio valley and the middle Atlantic states. In portions of Indiana, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas corn is in need of rain. High winds flattened considerable corn in the lake region on the 17th and 18th.

Where Yield Is Light.

The winter wheat harvest is practically completed except in a few of the northern states. Weather conditions have been favorable for thrashing, which work is in general progress. The yields continue light. The reports respecting spring wheat are not favorable. The late sown in the Red river valley in Minnesota is believed to be beyond recovery, while heavy rains have kept the lowlands in the southern portion of the state flooded and have caused lodging in the uplands. Rain in the southeast and extreme northeast portions of North Dakota, have improved the crop and in South Dakota spring wheat is filling well except in the southeastern portion and in Iowa.

STATE NOTES

The school census of Plainfield district is 236, which gives the town a population of 944.

Twenty-four core-makers of the Fairbanks-Morse plant at Beloit quit work over offense given by their foreman.

The city Council of Manitowoc has refused to purchase uniforms for the members of the police and fire department.

Two branded range horses have been placed under quarantine at La Crosse in compliance with a new law passed at the last session of the legislature.

An epidemic of blindness has stricken many cattle in the southwestern section of Racine county, several herds having been afflicted by a growth over the eyes.

The employees of the Landreth Peacannery company's warehouse went on a strike at Manitowoc on Tuesday but new men were secured to take their places.

The Sheboygan council passed an ordinance prohibiting a greater speed than eight miles an hour on straightaway courses and four miles when rounding corners.

Bartholomew Maloney, a telephone lineman, received a shock from a live wire and fell a distance of thirty feet at Beloit without being seriously injured.

The striking machinists and others involved are observing Judge Dunnwiddie's injunction against picketing at Beloit. The union has referred the matter to its head officers.

The Trades Council at Beloit has passed resolutions endorsing R. D. Hogan, publisher of the Beloit Labor Journal, who was denounced by the state Federation meeting at Manitowoc.

An unknown man, believed to be insane, boarded a freight train at Burlington, climbed to the top of the cars, danced and yelled and then leaped high into the air and off the car, but has not been found, dead or alive.

Explained in Simple Fashion.

A French Journal cites the following example to show the simplicity of language used by German chemists: "If benzoylphenylamide is treated with nitric acid it forms two isomeric compounds, one of which is benzoylphenylamide, of which one gives monomethylbenzoylphenylamide and the other adhydrosodiumamidobenzoate."—Hygienic Gazette.

Women No Longer Kiss.

No smart women kiss one another, and the most they now do is to rub hats. This is as it should be. In all the weird world of women nothing has so flabbergasted the mere man as the reckless valor with which ladies used to browse on each other's complexions without the slightest provocation.—Vanity Fair.

ANGRY FATHER KILLS HIS SON

Boy Failed to Get Up When Called by His Parent, and Is Shot.

THEN HE SUICIDES

A Younger Son Is Obligated To Flee From Home, in Order To Save His Life.

(Special By Scripps-McRae.) Knoxville, Iowa, July 22.—William Laird this morning shot and killed his son Charles, aged sixteen, and after attempting to shoot another son younger, killed himself by putting a bullet through his head with a revolver.

Did Not Get Up
Young Laird did not get up as soon as his father called him this morning and the father went to his room and emptied a revolver into his body. He then shot at his other son who escaped in his night gown through a window.

Kills Himself
Falling in his second murder Laird then shot himself. He was a quarrelsome man and very ugly when drinking. He was indolent and made his sons do all the work that was done about the place.

DIVORCE CASES IN CIRCUIT COURT

Judge Dunnwiddie Listens to Claims of Beloit Parties Who Wish to Separate.

Matrimonial infidelities furnished the testimony to which Judge Dunnwiddie listened yesterday. The Welsh suit for divorce, in which Charles Welsh and Mrs. Lovina Welsh of Beloit are involved, occupied practically the entire day. The divorce action concerning Mr. and Mrs. Hiram S. Lyon was up for hearing, but was adjourned until the 3rd of September.

RIVER STILL IS REMAINING UP

High Water Continues Even Though No Rain Has Fallen Recently.

High water continues despite the dry weather of the last few days. The day following the storm of a week ago showed the river to have reached the highest point for this time of the year, that it has done in many years. When some of the flash boards of the dam were washed away, the level was lowered a few inches but since that time there has been but a slight decrease in the level of the river.

Water in Basement

The Milwaukee elevator company, is still unable to take in any grain, there being considerable water in the basement of the building. The Blodgett mill water wheels can not be used and there are three feet of water in the cellar. The Doty mill has also been troubled with the high water.

Why He Married Many Times.

When Tolstoy was preparing to write "Resurrection" he frequented the criminal courts of Moscow and St. Petersburg. He tells, in a letter to an American friend, how a bigamist appeared one day before a Moscow judge. The man had married seven wives in three years. This he himself admitted. "Why on earth," the judge asked, "did you want to marry so many times?" "In order, sir," he replied, "to find a good one, if possible."

Bird's Nest in Letter Box.

At the village of Weald, near St. Neots, England, the public letter box contains a bird's nest with four eggs. The postman whose duty it is to take away the letters time after time found pieces of moss in the box and threw them out, but the bird always took them back, so at length he left the nest materials alone. The box is opened three times a day, but the bird sits on quite unconcerned.

Take Our Felon Contemporaries.

Why is it that from the first inception of our paper to the present time we have never had an editor to sojourn in our midst? Other professions have been well represented. Of preachers we have had enough to furnish subsistence to an African chief for a year; of doctors, sufficient in numbers to depopulate a state; and of lawyers, enough to establish a good-sized colony in Hades. But editors—not one.—Minneapolis Penitentiary Prison Mirror.

MANY VISITED THE PRESIDENT

Various Rumors Afloat as to the Significance of the Visits.

ARE FROM ALLOVER

Platt, of New York, Turner of Washington, Cannon and Yates, of Illinois, Present.

(Special By Scripps-McRae.) Oyster Bay, July 22.—Conferences were held this morning between many of the party leaders from all over the country at Sagmore Hill. The appearance of many of the distinguished men of the republican party has led to the rumor that a special session is to be called at once by the President.

Those Present
Senator Platt of New York, representative Cannon and Governor Yates, Illinois republican nominee Belknap of Kentucky, Ambassador Tower of Germany H. C. Frick, steel magnate, and ex-senator Turner of Washington.

Currency Bill
It is taken that the simultaneous visit of Platt and Cannon to the present administration headquarters means a special session to act with special reference to the currency bill now before congress.

WATER WHEEL OFF THE SHAFT

The Electric Light Company's Down Town Power House Was Out of Business.

About ten o'clock this morning one of the water wheels in the Electric Light company's down town power house slipped on the shaft and Engineer was obliged to shut off the power consequently the Doty mill was also shut down and both power wheels were not running for over two hours. The wheel in the power house slipped down on the shaft so far that the coars would not catch. By one o'clock however, it had been replaced and the mill was again running.

MAGNIFICENT BARN FOR SUMMER HOME

It Will Be Built on the Magnolia Avenue Home of J. C. Page.

Architects plans have been completed for a new barn at the J. C. Page summer home on Magnolia avenue, which will be one of the handsomest structures of the kind in Rock county. The ground space to be occupied will be thirty-four by sixty feet. It will be two stories, and a basement. In the basement there will be seven roomy box stalls and four single stalls, with all the modern appliances for perfect sanitation and ventilation. A runway for horses will connect with the main floor, where the carriage rooms will be located. The carriage space will be ample for a large number of vehicles. A harness closet, wash rack with cement floor, and storage room will occupy the remaining space on this floor. On the second floor will be the haymow and grain bins and two sleeping rooms for men employed on the place. The main floor and the sleeping rooms on the second floor will be finished throughout in Georgia pine.

Owl Nearly Causes Disaster.

While chasing a mouse on the Mobile & Ohio railway near Murphysboro, Ill., recently an owl got fixed in the points, rendering them unworkable. A locomotive which came along shortly afterwards was derailed and an express following later was stopped only in the nick of time to prevent a disaster.

London's Army of Horses.

In a recent paper on "Electric Automobiles," read before the British Institution of Civil Engineers, Mr. H. F. Joel stated that in London alone there were over 16,000 licensed horse-carriages, apart from private vehicles, tradesmen's vans, etc., and it was estimated that over 200,000 horses were stabled each night in London, necessitating the daily removal of more than 5,000 tons of manure and refuse.

Don't Cuss; Give Thanks.

If we all could follow the philosophical advice of Col. Henry Watterson this would be a happy world. He once remarked: "When I stub my toe, I do not damn the universe for my carelessness; but, instead, I thank God that I did not break my neck."

King Edward is also a clergyman of the Church of England, with a salary. In Pembroke-shire, Wales, St. David's cathedral claims King Edward as a parson, and for this office he is entitled to a salary of £1 per annum.

COMMONS PASSES IRISH LAND BILL

John Redmond Bestows Warm Tribute on Chief Secretary Wyndham—Not Satisfactory.

London, July 22.—The Irish land bill passed its third reading in the house of commons by a vote of 317 to 20. John Redmond, the leader of the Irish party in the house, bestowed warm congratulations on Chief Secretary for Ireland Wyndham, but as the latter is in Ireland with the king he was not present to hear them.

Mr. Redmond paid a tribute to the ability and patience with which Wyndham has conducted the bill, which, but for his conciliatory and sympathetic spirit, he said, could not have been brought to a successful issue.

Favors Evicted Tenants.

"The Nationalists," Redmond added, "are not completely satisfied with the bill, and they do not accept the responsibility for everything in it. Indeed, in some instances it violates the proposals made at the land conference, but so far as the evicted tenants are concerned they have obtained all they wanted, and it is satisfactory to remember that this is obtained with the consent of the main representatives of the landlords."

"Under the bill practically every evicted tenant in Ireland may be restored, which is a fact of enormous importance to the whole future of Ireland."

Premier Balfour said he rejoiced at the good will shown on all sides in the discussion of the bill, no less than its passage.

"I have long advocated the purchase scheme," he said, "realizing that the Irish land system is probably the worst in the world, contriving to combine the defects of almost every other conceivable system."

Controversy Will Remain.

"Of course the bill will not remove the great Irish controversy. That will remain, but it will be no longer embittered by those social wrongs which have made it in some of its phases irreconcilable and painful."

"I trust henceforth that the Irishmen, honestly believing that the great constitutional change is desirable from an Irish point of view, will no longer be tempted to mix up two quite different controversies—the controversy whether you should or should not give home rule to Ireland and the controversy whether you should or should not maintain the land system, which is costly, unjust, complicated, financially burdensome and equally injurious to tenants and landlords."

WHAT IT COST THE LOBBYIST

Expense Accounts of Last Winter's Session Filed with the Secretary of State.

BILLS VERY MANY

Count in the Salaries, Hotel Bills and Railway Fare of All Descriptions.

(Special By Scripps-McRae.) Madison, Wis. July 22.—According to the reports filed with the Secretary of State, in compliance with law, $16,141.34 was all that was spent by the fifty or more lobbyists before the last legislature, and practically all of this went for hotel bills and railway fare. The Chicago and North-Western railway company reports the largest expenditure, nearly $4,000, the greater part of which, a little over $3,000, went to the company's regular lobbyist, M. C. Ring, for salary and hotel bills. Ex-Senator John H. Harris, who succeeded the late George Wiswell as lobbyist for the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul, certifies that he spent but $1,640.15, nearly all for hotel bills, saying nothing about salary, while Thos. H. Gill, the Wisconsin Central's representative, appears to have lived upon air, as he states that he spent nothing at all.

Little Money Spent

Persons who have become impressed with the belief that legislative lobbyists spend money with the same freedom that a new cereal food company distributes sample packages, will be astonished at the economy shown by their statements. And even those who are more familiar with legislative dolings, and watched the work of the session pretty closely will be surprised to learn that $697 was all that it cost "Long John" Murphy to beat the Superior grain inspection bill, and that it all went for railroad fare and hotel bills.

FIERCE HAILSTORM KILLS TWO IN CHICAGO

Lasts but Fifteen Minutes, Yet Leaves Many Wounded in Its Wake and Inflicts Heavy Damage.

Chicago, July 22.—Two persons were killed and seventeen injured by the terrible hailstorm which swept over Chicago.

A tornadolike gale accompanied the hail and added to the destruction wrought by the elements. The visitation lasted only fifteen minutes, yet in that short time lives were lost, bodies bruised and battered, property worth many thousands of dollars destroyed and that part of Chicago in the path of the storm rendered panic-stricken.

The stanchest structures in the city swayed under the force of the hurricane and many small buildings in the outlying districts were torn to pieces. Hundreds of horses, abandoned by their drivers and driven frantic by the terror and pain caused by the hailstones, dashed madly about the streets and over the sidewalks. Trees were torn up by the roots, boards and debris of all descriptions flung about by the wind and the telephone and telegraph service of the northwestern part of the city was completely disabled.

Not since 1893 has a storm of such severity visited the city. Great jagged chunks of ice, some of them several inches in thickness, rained upon the streets. Live electric wires were blown down upon the pavements, where they spluttered and thrashed about to the imminent danger of citizens rushing to shelter.

The Country Editor.

A great British statesman has declared that all reform movements begin in Lancashire and end in London. It may likewise be affirmed that the policies of this nation are primarily shaped in the comparative seclusion of the rural sanatorium, the directors of the metropolitan press being for the most part middlemen in ideas, as city merchants are in commodities.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Historic Documents Discovered.

Dunbar Rowland of Jackson, Miss., has discovered at Natchez the complete records of the Spanish rule of that section of the country from 1781 to 1798. These records are in thirty well-bound volumes, about half of the number being in English and the other half in Spanish, the latter translated.

MACLEAN TAKES PRIZE TROPHY

LEO BROWNELL ONE DOWN IN THE CONTEST.

HANDICAP PLAYED ITS PART

Brownell Gave a Spirited Exhibition, But Was Downed by Steady Golfing.

Colin C. MacLean wears the Richardson trophy for the coming year. He won the right to do so by defeating Leo Brownell yesterday afternoon, but what he did to his opponent was not a whole lot. Without the handicap, the result of the match would have been a tie on the eighteen holes. With it he was enabled to hole out one up, although it was only by the narrowest kind of golfing that Brownell escaped coming out two down.

A Half's Breadth Match
MacLean's handicap gave him one stroke on each hole nine, each round. The play, however, was about even yesterday, he for he, on the majority of the holes. The wind hurt the distance playing, and poor direction going spoiled some otherwise pretty strokes, but the men who lost on his drive usually retrieved himself, on his iron or brassie, so that it was usually stroke for stroke on the long game. The holes were won or lost on the putting greens.

C. C. MacLean

First Round. Even
At the end of the first round, junior and senior were all even, but the "old man" as MacLean termed himself, lost a stroke on each of the first two holes. He recovered on three and four, taking three and four strokes respectively. He also took five and six in three and four each, winning the first, and halving the second. Neither man was playing cyclonic golf, but the game was a long distance ahead of the kind the dubs play.

Brownell's Hard Luck
On seven, the men got down to it. Brownell got off magnificently, while MacLean rolled down the hill. On his brassie he more than evened Brownell's approach which went across the putting green and into the little ditch under the fence. Brownell made a desperate effort to get out, but failed and gave up the hole. On the next MacLean fell off on his long game and surrendered to Brownell, who negotiated it in six. Nine was for blood and without the handicap it was anybody's hole. Brownell had a put of over four yards to make, against the forlorn hope that his opponent would go up in the air on a put of less than a yard. By magnificent nerve, Brownell ringed the cup and landed in the bottom, but MacLean was cool as a chocolate sundae and halved the hole, winning the medal.

The score by holes follows:
MacLean's card:
Out 4 6 4 3 5 4 4 7 6—43
In 5 6 3 4 3 4 5 8 5—43
Brownell's card:
Out 3 6 3 4 5 4 5 6 7—43
In 4 5 4 5 6 4 6 5—X

CIRCUS LIFE IS FULL OF INTEREST

Old George Forepaugh Tells of Life of Years Ago in the Saw-dust Ring.

The many people possessed of the idea that life with a circus or show is a health-breaking, life-shortening affair, should meet George W. Forepaugh, older brother of the late Adam Forepaugh, to whom he bears a striking resemblance, and the only living member of the famous circus family. He was in Minneapolis, with the Forepaugh-Pish Wild West show, over which he has a general supervision.

Mr. Forepaugh has been in the show business nearly forty years. He will be 75 years old on July 4, and in appearance and feeling he is than many men twenty years his junior. Except for some of the workmen, he is the first one of the staff to be up and at work in the morning. He exercises strict personal supervision over all the many departments of the great aggregation, buys all the meats and many of the other supplies, and is hard at work all day long.

He leads the parade every morning and takes tickets at one of the entrances at both daily performances. When the present show was organized he bought all the horses and branches, covering the west in a few weeks.

Erect of form, ruddy of countenance, virile in speech and gesture, tireless in step and labor, Mr. Forepaugh is a man to marvel at; and his youthful enthusiasm, added to his wonderful experiences which cover the circus business of America since the civil war, make him a most interesting man to meet.

He waxed reminiscent during the lull of a warm Sunday afternoon at the hotel. Mr. Forepaugh waxed reminiscent, and related some of the humorous, and strenuous experiences of his early years with his celebrated brother's circus. "My brother Adam," he said, "started the original Forepaugh circus in 1864. I joined him in 1866. I found that I had a peculiar talent for handling elephants, especially vicious ones, and my work was largely with them. I conquered Romeo, the ugliest elephant ever in captivity and later handled Bolivar, our rival to Barnum's Jumbo."

"I have had many exciting experiences with elephants, and many narrow escapes, but in amusing contrast to those barely averted tragedies, is the story of the 'production and career of the celebrated 'Sacred White Elephant of Slam' which we carried for a couple of seasons during the eighties."

Mr. Forepaugh's face grew ruddier as he chuckled over the remembrance, which he told as follows: "The day of fakes in the show business is past. For instance, in our wild west, the Indians, cowboys, Cosacks and Arabs, are the real thing, secured from their native wilds or countries. But in the old days, it we could not secure the genuine, we manufactured features to order. Circassian beauties, wild men of Borneo and bearded ladies are all familiar examples of the old-time fake."

"Well, Mr. Barnum advertised, and made a great hit with a white elephant, and one day my brother said to me:

"George, we've got to have a sacred white elephant, and its up to you to produce it."

Removes the Outer Skin
"I puzzled over the matter for a while and it occurred that whenever an elephant was hurt so that he lost any skin, the new skin, instead of being the dark natural color, grew in a sort of pinkish white. So I took Babe, a young elephant of our herd, and by means of powdered pumice stone and a stiff scrubbing brush, I gradually removed the entire outer layer of poor Babe's skin.

"Sure enough it came nearly white and we had our white elephant. We showed it first in Philadelphia, and invited a number of scientific naturalists and college professors to examine the rare wonders. They looked at it closely, wet their handkerchiefs and rubbed the big white spots, tested them with one thing, and another, and finally gave us certificates of the genuineness of our sacred white elephant, which were the best sort of advertisements."

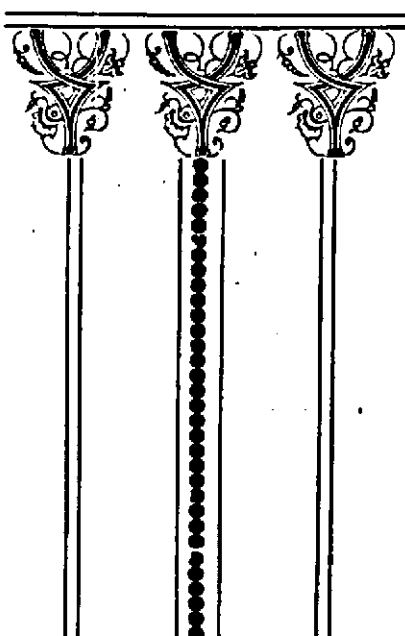

"Those were rough days in the circus business and the rivalry between our show and Mr. Barnum's was very bitter. Once when we were both in the same city, a gang of Barnum's men surrounded the tent where our white elephant was, and began peppering it with revolvers, hoping to kill or injure our Babe. I marshalled a gang of our men, led a charge against the enemy and routed them completely. But there was a good many black eyes in the crowd, including both of mine."

"Practically nothing is left now of my brother Adam's circus. He died nearly fourteen years ago, and the paraphernalia has been sold, scattered or has gone to pieces. The only wagon left of his original outfit is the little ticket wagon with mirrors on the sides, which we carry with our Wild West show and which will be seen in the parade tomorrow."

"This wagon my brother always considered his mascot, and we have kept it on that account. Money could not buy it, and, as the last member of the Forepaugh family, I should feel very sorry indeed, to lose it."

He will be seen here Saturday, with his show.

Grand Circuit Events

The "Big Ring" Meetings Promise Rich Rewards For Light Harness Patrons. Enthusiastic Readville Promoters: The "Memphis Shoe."

The grand circuit of 1903 gives promise of ample reward, as in years past, for the speedy trotters and pacers that follow the "big ring." At the close of the Detroit meeting, the inaugural of the circuit, the owners take their strings to Cleveland, where from July 27 to July 31 stakes to the total value of $40,000 will be hung up. After the Cleveland races the grand circuit meetings, dates and total purse amount will be as follows:

Buffalo, Aug. 3-8, $30,000; New York (Empire City), Aug. 10-15, $10,000; Brooklyn (Brighton Beach), Aug. 17-22, $50,000; Boston (Readville), Aug. 24-29, $55,000; Providence, Aug. 31-Sept. 5, $45,000; Hartford, Sept. 7-12, $30,000; Syracuse, Sept. 14-19, $40,000; Columbus, Sept. 21-26, $40,000; Cincinnati, Sept. 28-Oct. 3, $40,000.

It will be seen that the circuit this year is probably the best in point of convenience for horses and owners that has ever been formed. The horsemen will be able to save a great deal of aside for the three-year-old trotters still eligible to the 2:25 class.

The much talked of "Memphis shoe" which was sprung on the light harness horsemen a few months ago by an Englishman, W. H. Lake, will be used this season by many trainers who operate strings on the grand circuit. They hope to improve the gait and increase the speed of their trotters thereby. This shoe is of a novel design and has caused endless comment among horsemen and in turf publications.

It has two pieces of metal welded across the open part of the shoe, as shown in the accompanying illustration, and for that reason is sometimes referred to as the "stepladder shoe."

Lake had many trials and tribulations before he succeeded in attracting attention to the shoe. But being a man of wealth and leisure and not seeking material return from his discovery, he bided his time and let events take their own course.

When Mr. Lake first sprung the shoes at Memphis the boys gave him the laugh, and when Trainer Murray told him that Mr. Geers on seeing his diagram of it said that if a man wanted a trotter to "rack" the shoe would be the thing to do it Mr. Lake made the unanswerable reply: "How does Mr. Geers know? Has he ever tried it?" Cope, the smith of Mr. Geers' stable, also thought the shoe useless, and for a time the diagram hung in his shop and caused no end of fun for the boys. Mr. Lake, however, was steadfast and after failing to secure a trial with them on other horses induced Murray to try it on his Red Heart-Jenny K., 2:15½, colt filly, who was very badly mixed gaited.

When Murray mounted the cart to give filly his trial the wielders of the hammers on the knockers' bench prepared for a feast, but were not feasted. Fillo began to step high and clean, and, as if trying to show his pleasure, he arched his neck and skinned over the dirt like a real trotter. After this all the trainers were willing to give it a trial, and the result was that in each case the trial exceeded anticipations.

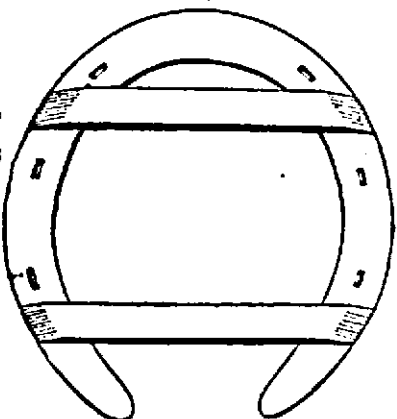

T. T. MAXFIELD OF BLOOMFIELD, N. J., DRIVING BELDIA, 2:09½, A PROMINENT GRAND CIRCUIT CANDIDATE.

Beldia, 2:09½, will be a leading factor in many fast grand circuit events again this year. She is now owned in New York and was driven by Theodore T. Maxfield of Bloomfield, the successful owner and trainer who operates the Oakfield stable. Until being sold to a New York turfman Beldia was known as the fastest horse in New Jersey.

money and time by reason of the arrangement of shipments, which does away with all need of "doubling" on the route.

The Cleveland enthusiasts anticipate a very successful meeting, and, according to Secretary Dietrich, the events which closed early in the spring are well filled. The early closing races include four $2,000 purses for trotters and four for pacers of the following classes: 2:23, 2:10, 2:14 and 2:11, trotting; and 2:23, 2:15, 2:11 and 2:06, pacing. This association never hangs up sensational purses, yet the racing is always of the highest order. All of the races at the Cleveland meeting will be best two heats in three, and the probable class races which will supplement the early closing events will be for 2:06, 2:08, 2:10, 2:12, 2:13, 2:15, 2:17, 2:21 and 2:25, trotters; 2:04, 2:06, 2:08, 2:10, 2:15, 2:18 and 2:21 class, pacers.

The Boston meeting at the Readville track last year was considered by many the most successful of the season. This year the New England Breeders' association, which conducts the races at

THE MUCH TALKED OF "MEMPHIS SHOE."

Readville, hopes to earn a repetition of the verdict. To start the ball a-rolling in the right direction the association has decided to repeat the early closing events of 1902 for the coming grand circuit meeting. This means that the Massachusetts will be a $15,000 purse, to which 2:12 trotters are eligible. The Blue Hill is for 2:30 trotters and will be worth $2,000; the Norfolk also is a $2,000 event, but is for the 2:24 pacers; the Nipomet is worth $2,000 and is for the 2:10 pacers; the 2:10 trotters have a $2,000 purse, and $200 has been set

The Questor, 2:14½, in Geers' stables, wore a lot of weight, but a few workouts with the bar shoes permitted the weight to be reduced to nine and a half ounces. They lengthened his stride a whole lot, and he stepped an easy mile in 2:14.

These are only a few of the cases reported which might be cited illustrating the remarkable effect the shoes have had on various defects in gait.

JOE KELLEY'S PLAIN.

Cincinnati Captain Says Umpires Have Too Much Power.

Captain-Manager Joe Kelley of the Cincinnati team is of the opinion that the officials of the National league have given their umpires too much power in the matter of disciplining players, and that the instructions to umpires should be modified a bit. "Some of these umpires on the National league staff are using the power given them by the magnates to cover up their shortcomings as judges of play," said Manager Kelley recently.

"It is a fact that in the old days many players would shift the blame for their bad plays on the umpires by objecting to decisions that were entirely correct, and if so accepted by the public would bring the wrath of the spectators down on the umpire involved in the play.

"Evidently the umpires have benefited by those early day practices, for they are now working them in a reversed form, with the result that the mistakes of the umpires are placed on the players. It is not natural for a man when he sees that he is getting the worst of it to submit tamely to being deprived of his prospects and rights through the shortsightedness or poor judgment of an umpire.

"Perhaps in some cases the language used is too severe, in which retirement from the game is a just punishment, but when a man objects in a mild way to a bad decision it is rather hard to have him sent to the bench or off the field."

McGraw's Opinion.

"Mugsy" McGraw of the New York Nationals believes Pittsburg will again win the National pennant. Says he: "The Pittsburg team is by far the strongest in either big league, much better balanced. You can't take a position on it but what you feel that you would like to have that man."

THE HIDDEN DOOR

Sackett street woke up one Tuesday morning to find that the shutters had not been taken down from the windows of Burchard's shop. For thirty-two years old Burchard, as everybody called him, had opened his shop for business six days of the week at 7 o'clock in the morning. He had never taken a business day off or lost one through sickness.

The belief was when the shop was found closed that the old man had died in his bed, and about 8:30 o'clock the police came to pick the lock of the door and effect an entrance. All doors and windows were found securely fastened, and there were no tracks to be found in the shop of intruders. The officers fully expected to find the dead body of the old man in his bedroom, but much to their surprise no grew-some specter met their gaze. As a matter of fact, old Burchard could not be found about the place either living or dead.

After a thorough search it was reasoned that he had been called away on business and that the police had been overhasty. One of their number was therefore left to guard the shop until the proprietor should return and the excitement subsided.

Old Burchard did not return. After a week the case was taken up again, and parties were found who had seen him put up his shutters and lock his door at 9 o'clock Monday night. He had said nothing of going away, and he had left no message within the shop. All the watches and clocks belonging to his customers were there, as also about $3,000 worth of goods, and among his papers were two notes falling due on the day after his strange disappearance. He owed no man a dollar, and the idea that he had run away was absurd. The city was searched and the man advertised for, but the week went by and no clue was secured.

One of the strange features of the case was that no money could be found. The old man never did business with the banks, and no one had ever seen a safe in his shop. He handled thousands of dollars yearly, but where did he keep it? He often loaned money on diamonds and plate, but where he deposited them for safe keeping no one had ever learned. Unless he had gone away and taken his cash with him there ought to be a fortune hidden away in that old shop somewhere. People to the number of a dozen who had raised cash on personal property came forward to say so, but hunt as they did the searchers could find nothing outside the regular stock.

The next of kin was a brother, living a thousand miles away. He came on and renewed the search. When it panned out nothing he hired men to raze the building to the ground, and every brace and beam was tested as it was removed. The work went on until only the cellar walls were left, and stone masons tested these with their hammers and found no hollow spots. The bottom of the cellar was dug up to a depth of three feet, but no cavities or iron bound boxes were discovered. That ended the search, and then a detective was employed to take the case up as a whole.

He was a shrewd fellow, but what could he do? A man locks himself into his shop at night. He is missing next morning, with all the doors still locked and the keys on the inside. He owes no man a cent, but leaves thousands of dollars' worth of property behind him. Two hundred newspapers give the affair publicity, and a million people perhaps are on the watch for a man described so and so, but not the slightest trace can be discovered. What was there for a detective to work on?

Years went by and the cellar remained open. No one wanted to buy the site. In time the Burchard mystery ceased to be talked about, and a new generation of boys grew up to play hide and seek in the cellar. Ten years had gone by when three or four boys jumped into the cavity one day after a football which had been kicked there. In the struggle for the ball it was kicked here and there, and finally fell into a hole at the base of the crumbling west wall. In trying to recover it the boys pulled away a stone, and a minute later they had discovered a hidden door and solved the vexatious mystery.

Old Burchard had constructed a stone vault under the back yard, with an opening from the cellar. He was a cunning worker, and in making the door he had bolted thin slabs of stone to planks and hung the hinges on the inside. The keyhole looked like a fracture in one of the stones, and the whole was so artfully arranged that of the hundreds of men who had searched not one had suspected the location of the door. In their tests the stone masons probably missed that particular spot.

You are prepared to learn that old Burchard's bones were found within. The door had swung on him as he entered the vault to put away his money for the night and had become jammed. In that vault were found upward of $80,000 in cash and all the property he had loans on, and of the body there were only bones and dust.

Of course everybody said that a secret door should have been suspected and looked for. Just as if it hadn't been, and all the detectives remembered advising the heir to dig up the back yard to look for the vault. Nevertheless, three or four rollicking boys got $1,000 apiece for solving the mystery that puzzled thousands of older brains.

Do you know that Washington is the most richly endowed state in the Union? All wealth comes from the earth and sea. Note what the state has: Her fish industry leads and furnishes the greatest share of the salmon used in the world over. AN OPPORTUNITY FOR THE CANNERYMAN.

Her lumber industry is shown by the largest sawmills in the world, backed by a product that is practically inexhaustible. Lumber is a necessity and is fast becoming exhausted in the eastern states. THE LAST CHANCE FOR THE LUMBERMAN.

Washington will become the greatest fruit-producing state. While this industry is new yet the fruit of Washington is celebrated. Carloads of Washington apples are sold annually in New York City and in the money market in many eastern states. AN OPENING FOR THE FRUIT GROWER.

The peculiarly favorable climate of Washington, and its wide range due to differences of altitude and rainfall, adapt the state to almost every class of crops raised outside of the tropics. Washington's average wheat, barley and oat yield per acre, for ten years, far exceeds the ten-year average of the United States. A RICH HARVEST AWAITS THE FARMER AND HOME BUILDER.

The mountains of Washington are filled with minerals—gold, silver, copper, lead, iron and coal are awaiting the producing power of capital and labor. RICH PROSPECTS FOR THE MINER AND INVESTOR.

Seattle is a natural Gateway to the Orient and Alaska. The shipping of Puget Sound compares favorably with the largest Atlantic seaports. A GOLDEN FUTURE FOR THE MERCHANT, MANUFACTURER, IMPORTER AND CAPITALIST.

For those who may wish to invest or take advantage of an opportunity to participate in the great development that will mark the next decade in this state, a special first-class round-trip rate of FIFTY DOLLARS from Chicago and FORTY-FIVE DOLLARS from St. Paul and Minneapolis has been authorized. Dates of sale, August 1st to 14th inclusive. Final return limit, October 15. Liberal stop-overs and diverse routes returning will be granted, and those desiring to return through California may do so by paying $11 additional.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Partly cloudy today with possible thunder storms; warmer tonight and Thursday.

TURNING THE RASCALS OUT

The democrats who are urging their party to have a "turn-the-rascals-out" war cry for 1904, in connection with the postoffice scandal, are behind the times. The rascals are being turned out now. Democratic and republican rascals are being flung out of the postoffice department just as soon as they are revealed, and the republican administration is doing the "flinging". This will be kept up until not a rascal, democrat or republican, is left in. The chance is that the whole of them will have gone before congress meets next winter.

All this talk about the partisan capital which the democrats can make out of the postal irregularities shows that the talkers forget which party is in power. A republican at the head of the government. This republican president is supported by a republican cabinet. He has behind him a congress republican in both branches. The republicans are exposing the frauds though democrats as well as republicans were among the office-holders who committed them. The republicans are punishing the offenders without any distinction of politics.

It is the republican party, therefore, which will be benefited. Let there be no mistake on this point. The republicans have more of a stake in these exposures than have the democrats. The republican party is the party in power, and will take care to cleanse the public offices very vigorously and completely. No rascal, democrat or republican, will escape. If there is to be any mention of this scandal in a national platform in 1904 it is the republican party which does the mentioning. The republicans are running the government, and they are punishing all sorts of transgressions among office-holders just as soon as they are revealed. The republican is the only party that can be relied on to do this sort of work or any other kind of reform which calls for intelligence and courage. Not "turn the rascals out" but "keep the rascals out", should be the campaign cry of 1904.

BAD POLICY.

There is no substantial reason to be advanced why republicans or any state should attempt to play into the hands of their political enemies by changing front on the tariff question. The tariff law as it stands is admittedly a good measure. If the whole question were reopened it is more than doubtful whether any better law could be framed, and to reopen the tariff question in part is to reopen it in whole. If imperfections exist in the law as it stands there has been a distinct lack of any specific pointing out of those defects. When it is positively shown that some injury is worked through them it will be time enough to proceed to remedy those defects; either by raising duties if they have proved too low or lowering them if they have proved too high.

In the meantime and until some defects do appear and are specifically pointed out, it is decidedly advisable, both from the standpoint of politics and from regard for the interests of the country, to let the tariff alone, and to refrain from aiding the democratic campaign for revision.

The republican party does not have to apologize for the Dingley law, its workings or its results. Considering the present condition of business in the United States, the development of industry, the growth of our domestic and foreign trade and the splendid financial condition of the treasury, all due in great measure at least to the present tariff law, it is difficult to see why any republican should favor tampering with that law in the direction which the democrats desire to see it amended. As a matter of fact there are few republicans who do want to see it tampered with, even in Iowa, as the republican convention there has just shown.

WORK NOT PLAY.

Secretary Moody the other day decided that the clerks in the navy department at Washington should not bid good bye to their desks on Saturday at 3 o'clock, as has been the custom at the capital for many years. This extra hour is regarded by the hard working government clerks as one of their prerogatives and they set to work and dug up a law closing the department at noon on Saturdays during the entire year. Thus does another heroic effort to conduct the affairs of the government on a strictly business basis encounter a solar plexus jab.

If the Australians are satisfied with the location of Tumut, the site selected for the capital of the federated Australian states, they may now appoint a committee to wrestle with the problem of giving Tumut a name more in keeping with its new dignity.

An Indiana woman, who has been posing as the authoress of the Grace Richmond stories has been discovered to be a fraud by the Indiana Authors' Protective union. No. 4-11-44. First thing we know, they're telling us that Mary McLane never wrote it.

The latest fad among engaged couples is to search for Borl's comet. It can be seen any evening after 9 o'clock. A hammock swung in a dark spot affords the greatest convenience for the purpose of astronomical knowledge.

Considering that the democrats of the country are apparently not sure just what their principles are at the present writing, why not try a national campaign next year without any This is the age of innovation.

No man who has got his earnings salted in a substantial investment is called upon to worry over the gambling fluctuations of the stock exchange. We need less gambling and more grumbling in this country.

Dr. Stiles' discovery of the germ which produces laziness may be interesting, but it would have been a great deal more useful to have discovered the germ which produces the desire for hard work.

Before the Kaiser is allowed to send gunboats to South American rivers to look after his traders we should call up the shade of James Monroe and ask him if that would be agreeable to the doctrine.

If Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island really wants the vice-presidential nomination he would do well to move west and be adopted as the favorite son of some other state.

Secretary Moody may be right in thinking the country can amply afford to build more battleships. The thing that really puts a strain on the national finances is keeping the battleships in repair.

Politicians are visiting Oyster Bay quite frequently this summer. Next year it will be the people who will call and carve up the fence for souvenirs.

Wu Ting-fang, late minister to the United States, has been reduced to an under secretary ship in his native country. Undoubtedly the great questioner has been getting inquisitive.

Mr. Carnegie is worried. His fortune has increased several millions within the past few days and he can't find his libraryless town.

This is the sort of weather that makes one forget that the seashore hotels have elevated their schedule of rates.

Those eastern democrats who had the reorganization of the party all fixed up never imagined that the west was so much in earnest.

At last accounts Premier Balfour was still depending on Mr. Chamberlain to tell him what he thinks regarding the new tariff scheme.

Cuba doubtless feels that it will be easier to touch Uncle Sam for a cash loan than to get reciprocity privileges from the beet-sugar senators.

France need not think that it is going to unload any islands on us; not while we are looking.

However, the advocates of "reorganization" were probably not counting on Mr. Bryan's support.

If the Reliance is not equal to the occasion we might pit the Kearsarge against the Shamrock III.

Gen. Miles might be tired but he still might be induced to serve his country in a civil office.

CUT-OFF TO THE CAPITAL CITY

MILWAUKEE ROAD SURVEYS NEW LINE NORTH.

GOES BACK OF COUNTY FARM

Surveyors Are Mapping Out Prospective Line Which Will Shorten the Route.

Surveyors have been employed for a number of days in the vicinity of the county farm. Although it has been vigorously asserted that they are employed by the Janesville interurban company to lay out a route which will dodge Milton and Milton Junction, this statement has drawn forth an equally vigorous denial. The line which is being mapped out, so it is declared, is a proposed cut-off of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul's route to Edgerton.

Will Save Distance
The line, so it is stated will branch off from the present line not far from the present line not far from the Mississippi crossing and pass to the rear of the county buildings, through the "Sandy Sink" district, striking the main line again at Kilder's crossing. This route will cut off Milton Junction, shortening the distance, avoiding several grades, and making it possible to appreciably cut down the time scheduled.

Road Only Prospective
No indications of commencing construction have been exhibited and it is possible that the line may never advance beyond the visionary stage, but residents along the route say that representatives of the railroad company have made some definite propositions to them. The Kilder gravel pit has been looked upon as a degradable source to secure gravel for grading purposes.

DISCOVERED THE BUG OF LAZINESS

Parasite Found Which Is Said To Be Responsible for Southerners' Laziness.

Although it has been less than six months since Dr. Charles Wardell Stiles, chief of the division of zoology in the marine hospital service, Washington officially announced the discovery of the hook worm or "germ of laziness," preparations are already under way in several southern states to utilize the discovery in combating the disease.

The state board of health of N. Carolina, through its secretary, Dr. Lewis, has taken the lead in the work, and it is confidently expected by scientists in Washington that the health officials of that state soon will make an important announcement as the result of the experiments.

Attacks Small Children
The disease which results from the ravages of the hook worm is called it is known as laziness. Study of the conditions in the most widely infected regions of the south, mainly in Florida, appears to show that the parasite attacks children in the rural sections at an early age. It has been satisfactorily demonstrated that children who go barefooted or who are permitted to roll around freely on the ground in the summer time are the special victims of the hook worm.

When the parasite thus gets started it thrives marvelously, to the injury of its victim, actually arresting the development of certain parts of the body and delaying the age of maturity to a noticeable extent. When full growth finally is attained the victim is all through life indolent and shiftless. This accounts for the large number of people in the south who are considered lazy.

BRIEFLETS

Freak Calf: W. C. Huguenin who lives on the Deloit road has a strange freak in his possession in the shape of a calf that weighs but thirteen pounds. The little creature is a lively little thing and is coal black and perfectly formed. It is from a Jersey Cow and Polled Angus bull. Many calves have been born as small as this, but few ever lived.

Bridge Bids Coming: Ten bridge building companies have written to City Clerk Badger for specifications of the bridges which the city wishes to build, and as all of them will probably bid the city stands to receive some good figures.

New Sand Boxes: By the date of the Edgewater Golf club match, Saturday, it is expected to have all but two of the teeing grounds at the Sinsissippi grounds provided with modern sand boxes. Several members of the clubs have combined to make a gift to the club of four such boxes, and three more will be provided by the losers in Tuesday's match between the married and single men.

Had Shoulder Broken: Richard Brandt, head carpenter at the new federal building was knocked down by a cab at Milwaukee and received a fractured collar bone as well as a number of minor bruises.

Picnic at Park: A car load of ladies and children took the interurban to Yost's park yesterday where they held a picnic. The members of the party are largely residents of Milton avenue and vicinity.

Surprised Roesling Home: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Roesling were surprised at their S. Main st. home last evening by a number of friends who came unannounced. Progressive clinch was the game and prizes went to Minnie Gagan and Fred Smith, and Mrs. Jerome Cunningham, and Frank Schmidley.

ELECTRIC LOCK HAS BEEN FIXED

Rock River Interlocking Tower Is Once More in Good Shape.

The electric lock for the derail at the Rock River interlocking tower has been repaired and is again in operation after some months of disuse. Last winter the lock was placed at the tower, but for some reason would not work. This was later found to be because the rails of the nearby interurban were not "bonded" and electrolysis interfered with the working of the lock. Recently the representatives of the interlocking machinery company visited the tower and placed the apparatus in excellent working order. Why this was not accomplished sooner is not known for the trouble with the interurban rails was remedied some months ago, and the lock could then have been put in working order. It was found that the escape of the electric current from the interurban rails effected the signal to such a degree that it could not be relied upon.

Three Lines Cross
At the Rock river tower, in Spring Brook, the interurban line and the North-Western road, running parallel near together, cross the St. Paul. The necessity of having the complete interlocking system is very apparent. Having this lock at the tower makes it absolutely impossible for the operator to change the "derail" after it has once been set for an approaching train. It is a safeguard for the operator and for the men on the engines as well, for it saves all controversy in case of a derailment. The cause of the mistake and who is to be blamed can be ascertained without a doubt.

The electric lock, worked in connection with interlocking systems is a comparatively new invention, having only been in use for the last year or two.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM POISONING

Wife of Mail Carrier Blakely Drinks .. Drinks Ammonia By Mistake.

Mrs. C. J. Blakely drank a quantity of ammonia yesterday by mistake for medicine and narrowly escaped serious results. She realized her mistake immediately and had presence of mind to drink a quantity of vinegar as an antidote, and then telephone for a doctor. The possible fatal results of the drink were ward off but she did not escape without severe burns of the mouth and throat.

OCCUPY MODEL QUARTERS

Double Stores Now Accommodate The H. L. McNamara Stock of Hardware.

Complete in every detail are the spacious quarters at 104 and 106 West Milwaukee street, now occupied by the H. L. McNamara hardware stores. For a number of years Mr. McNamara has occupied the adjoining store on the corner, but the increase of business as annually enjoyed by this well known firm necessitated their occupying their present quarters. The new stores are two in number aside from a third store which gives the firm frontage on Franklin street. It is only in justice to H. L. McNamara to state that the present store is second to none in the state of Wisconsin that is used exclusively for hardware purposes. Mr. McNamara not only enjoys a large business in this city but by the carrying of a complete stock and upright dealings, he has extended his business in every section of the county.

HORSESHOERS WILL PICNIC

ANNUAL OUTING IN BOWER CITY THIS YEAR.

WILL OCCUR ON AUGUST 15

Second Saturday of Next Month Will Be the Date of the Big Gathering.

The annual outing picnic of the National Horseshoers Protective association will be held in this city this year, the date being Saturday, Aug. 15. This decision was arrived at recently by the conference held with the officials of the Madison local, No. 161, and representatives of Janesville, Edgerton and Deloit, the locals of which cities will unite in celebrating the national holiday of the horseshoers.

People who drive horses will do well to bear in mind the fact that every shop in the city will be closed up tight on that day as the master horseshoers, to a man with their wives and families are to celebrate.

This City in Charge
The details of the outing as far as the program goes will be arranged by the Janesville local due announcement being made later of the interesting events, which will comprise tests of skill in the handicraft of work, with suitable rewards.

The committee of horseshoers who visited Madison was composed of W. H. Eller, Janesville; Mr. Joyce, Edgerton; and William Drake of Deloit. Last year the outing was held at Esther Beach, and two years ago the knights of the hammer and leather apron went to Fort Atkinson.

Koshkonong Was Planned
The picnic was to have been held at Lake Koshkonong, but the steamer became disabled at a most inopportune time and the lake trip had to be abandoned.

The outings of the combined locals are always most enjoyable and the determination has gone forth that the coming one shall distance all of its predecessors.

MACHINES ARE SENT TO EUROPE

Fame of the Janesville Factories Is World Wide, and Many Shipments Are Made Abroad.

Recently the Badger State Machine company received an inquiry from Barcelona, Spain, concerning one of the new punches the company is now manufacturing. Janesville's products are becoming known and talked about the world over. The concern has lately perfected a number of new tools for which applications for patents have been made. One machine for which there has been an absolutely good demand is an entirely new style bench punch for cornice makers and all work in light metal and is the only machine of its kind on the market.

With this punch different sized holes can be made without changing the die. The company shipped six of these machines to southern points recently.

Another peculiar punch that is used in making corn shredder machinery is one that punches a round hole in the metal and at the same time, squares the hole half way through. The teeth of the corn shredding apparatus are fitted into holes made in this manner, to prevent the teeth turning in the sockets. An instrument of this class was shipped recently by the company that weighed 2200 pounds.

INSTRUCTION CAR FOR RAILWAY MEN

AIR BRAKES AND THEIR WORKINGS ARE EXPLAINED.

JUST HOW THEY ARE WORKED

Northwestern Road's Special Car To Teach Its Employees Use of the Brake.

An air brake instruction car belonging to the North-Western road arrived in the city this morning with Mr. M. L. Carlton in charge and will be stationed near the roundhouse. Two or three lectures per day will be given by Mr. Carlton while the car remains in the city, engineers and firemen are given free instruction in the principles of the air brake.

Like an Ordinary Coach
Except for the smoke stack near one end of the car and the awnings over the windows, it appears very similar to the ordinary coach. A part of the interior is fitted up for sleeping and living rooms while the balance is filled with the air brake apparatus, especially constructed so that the principles may be easily shown in the car.

Mr. Carlton has a lecture beginning at nine o'clock mornings, which is especially for engineers. One at two p. m. at which firemen are asked to take part and often a special lecture in the evenings, beginning at eight o'clock.

The car will remain in the North-Western yards until Saturday when it will continue to Madison. Instructions are given to railway men once every year by the North-Western road.

SYNOPSIS.

Chapter I.—The story opens with Alfred Bishop, a Georgia planter, closing a trade of $5,000 in mill stock for 5,000 acres of mountain land. Mrs. Bishop and their son Alan object to the trade. Mrs. Bishop's brother, Abner Daniel, tells a story. II.—The sale over. Bishop boasts that his land is on a prospective railroad. Tompkins, the former owner, has just unloaded a tract of 2,000 adjoining Bishop's. III.—Bishop goes to Atlanta to see Lawyer Perkins, who told him about the railroad. He has been deceived. The old man is so cast down that he returns without seeing his brother William or his daughter Adele, who is at her uncle's in Atlanta. IV.—Bishop has bought 20,000 acres of mountain land in all and mortgaged his plantation. Abner tells Rayburn to consult Miller, a land speculator. V.—Miller tells Alan about a dance at Darley. Alan's sweetheart, Dolly Barclay, will be there. Frank Hillhouse is attentive to Dolly. Craig, the banker. VI.—Dolly tells Alan that her father objects to his love quest. Barclay has also been caught on mountain land. VII and VIII.—Miller gives Alan cynical advice on love. Dolly's mother talks to her on her own love experiences. Dolly unhappy. IX.—Abner and Rev. Mr. Dole discuss religion. Pole Baker, the ex-moonshiner, whom Alan has reformed. X.—Abner goes to Barclay's, and Dolly talks to him of Alan. He tells Alan of his own sweetheart who died and he still loves her. Alan will hope and wait. XI and XII.—Alan goes to Miller with a project for a railroad to the land. He redeems Pole Baker from the prison gang. XIII.—Miller sends news by Dolly to Alan about his railroad project. She disputes Miller's cynical views of love. XIV.—Miller interests Tillman Wilson, president of the Southern Land and Timber company, in the mountain road. Loan of $25,000 arranged on deal finished with a verbal option for the company to take the land at $100,000. XVII and XVIII.—Miller meets Alan's sister Adele in Atlanta and is smitten. Craig's bank fails. Bishop loses his money. Dolly sends word to Alan she loves him more than ever. XIX and XX.—Miller takes the news of the failure to the Bishop. Cole Baker and Abner suspect that Craig is hiding his money. XXI and XXII.—Pole Baker excites Craig's cupid by a story about having found gold in the mountain. He takes the banker to his old moonshiner cave and compels him to write an order on his wife for $25,000.

hunk, my opinion is that it'll never be with less."

"Well, it's yours," he said.

a little grocery store out in Texas, nigh the Indian Territory. Some thinks that Winship 'll turn up that an' fine 'im, but a body never knows what to believe these days."

"That shore is a fact," opined Pole. "Sally, that corn bread's a-burnin'. Ef you'd use less lamp oil, you'd smell better."

Mrs. Baker darted to the fireplace, raked the live coals from beneath the cast iron oven and jerked off the lid in a cloud of steam and smoke. She turned over the pone with the aid of a case knife and then came back to the door.

"For the last month I've had my eye on the Bascome farm," Bishop was saying. "There's a hundred acres even, some good bottom land and upland an' in the neighborhood of thirty acres of good wood. Then there's a five room house, well made an' tight, an' a barn, cowhouse an' stable."

"Lord! I know the place like a book," said Pole. "An' it's a dandy investment. Mr. Bishop. They say he offered it for fifteen hundred. It's worth two thousand. You won't drop any money by buyin' that property."

Mr. Bishop. I'd hate to contract to build jest the house an' well an' out-houses for a thousand."

"I bought it," Bishop told him. "He let me have it for a good deal less 'n fifteen hundred, cash down."

"Well, you made a dandy trade, Mr. Bishop. Ah, that's what ready money will do! When you got the cash, things seem to come at bottom figures."

Old Bishop drew a folded paper from his pocket and slapped it on his knee. "Yes, I closed the deal this evening, an' I was jest a-thinkin' that as you hadn't rented for next year—I mean!"

Bishop was ordinarily direct of speech, but somehow his words became tangled and he delivered himself awkwardly on this occasion. "You see, Alan thinks that you 'n Sally ort to live in a better house than jest this here log cabin, an'—"

The wan face of the tired woman was aglow with expectation. She sank down on the doorstep and sat still and mute, her hands clasping each other in her lap. She had always disliked that cabin and its sordid surroundings, and there was something in Bishop's talk that made her think he was about to propose renting the new farm, house and all, to her husband. Her mouth fell open; she scarcely allowed herself to breathe. Then, as Bishop paused, her husband's voice struck dumb dismay to her heart. It was as if she was falling from glowing hope back to tattered despair.

"That's more land in that farm 'an I could do justice to, Mr. Bishop, but ef that's a good cabin on it an' you see it to cut off enough for me an' one horse I'd jest as soon tend that as this here. I want to do what you an' Alan think is best all round."

"Oh, Pole, Pole!" The woman was crying to herself, her face lowered to her hands that the two men might not see the agony written in her eyes. A house like that to live in, with all those rooms and fireplaces and windows with panes of glass in them! She fancied she saw her children playing on the tight, smooth floors and on the honeysuckle porch. For one minute these things had been hers, to be smothered away by the callous indifference of her husband, who, alas, had never cared a straw for appearances!

not acceptin' help from them that feels nigh to you an', I may as well say, grateful, exceedingly grateful, fer what you've done, things that no other livin' man could 'a' done—Alan thinks you ort to have the farm fer yore-own property, an' so the deeds has been made out to—"

Pole drew himself up to his full height. His big face was flushed, half with anger, half with a strong emotion of a tenderer kind. He stood towering over the old man like a giant swayed by the warring winds of good and evil.

"I won't hear a word more of that, Mr. Bishop," he said, with a quivering lip—"not a word more. By golly, I mean what I say! I don't want to hear another word of it. 'This here place is good enough fer me an' my family. It's done eight year, an' it kin do an other eight."

"Oh, Pole, Pole, Pole!" The woman's cry was now audible. It came straight from her pent up, starving soul and went right to Bishop's heart. "You want the place, don't you, Sally?" he said, calling her by her given name for the first time, as if he had just discovered their kinship. He could not have used a tenderer tone to child of his own.

"Mind, mind what you say, Sally!" ordered Pole from the depths of his fighting emotion. "Mind what you say!"

The woman looked at Bishop. Her glance was on fire.

"Yes, I want it—I want it!" she cried. "I ain't goin' to it. I want it more right now than I do the kingdom of heaven. I want it ef we have a right to it. Oh, I don't know!" She dropped her head in her lap and began to sob.

Bishop stood up. He moved toward her in a jerky fashion and laid his hand on the pitifully tight knot of hair at the back of her head.

"Well, it's yours," he said. "Alan thought Pole would raise a kick about it, an' me an' him had it made out in yore name, so he couldn't tetch it. It's yours, Sally Ann Baker. That's the way it reads."

The woman's sobs increased, but they were sobs of unbridled joy. With her apron to her eyes she rose and hurried into the house.

The eyes of the two men met. Bishop spoke first:

"You've got to give in, Pole," he said. "You'd not be a man to stand betwixt yore wife an' a thing she wants as bad as she does that place, an' by all that's good an' holy, you shan't!"

"What's the use of me tryin' to git even with Alan," Pole exclaimed. "Ef he's eternally a-goin' to git up some'n? I've been tickled to death ever since I cornered old Craig till now, but you an' him has spoiled it all by this here trick. It ain't fair to me."

"Well, it's done," smiled the old man as he went to his horse. "An' ef you don't live that with Sally I'll make 'er git a divorce."

Bishop had reached a little piquet in a fence corner farther along on his way home when Mrs. Baker suddenly emerged from a patch of high corn in front of him:

"Is he a-goin' to take it, Mr. Bishop?" she asked, panting from her hurried walk through the corn that hid her from the view of the cabin.

"Yes," Bishop told her. "I'm a-goin' to send two wagons over in the mornin' to move yore things. I wish it was ten times as good a place as it is, but it will insure you an' the children a livin' an' a comfortable home."

After the manner of many of her kind, the woman uttered no words of thanks, but simply turned back into the corn, and, occupied with her own vision of prosperity and choking with gratitude, she hurried back to the cabin.

THIS COSTS YOU NOTHING

Peoples Drug Co. Will Return Your Money if M-I-O-na Does Not Cure Dyspepsia and Increase Flesh.

There are hundreds of people in Janesville who were not the last bit surprised when they read in the Gazette that Peoples Drug Co. are selling M-I-O-na under a guarantee to refund the money, in case it did not cure indigestion and increase weight. This remarkable preparation is a true flesh-forming food, that builds up good, healthy solid tissues and makes thinness and scrawiness a thing of the past.

It tones up the digestive organs, and will cure the worst case of indigestion, headache, dizziness, or the depressed, weak condition that afflicts nearly everyone who suffers with stomachic trouble. M-I-O-na does not simply relieve; it does lasting good.

Peoples Drug Co. can tell you many well known people whom M-I-O-na has restored to health, and given an increase in flesh, after trying other methods of treatment with no benefit.

In 98 out of every 100 cases where M-I-O-na is used, the result is a restoration of perfect harmony between height and weight and an absolute and permanent cure of all stomachic troubles.

Peoples Drug Co. believe in M-I-O-na and stand ready to refund the price to any customer who can say it has not helped.

The best kind of advertising is the praise of a pleased customer, and there are today hundreds in Janesville who are advertising M-I-O-na because it cured them. A few months ago they were thin and dyspeptic, and could eat nothing without fear of stomachic trouble. Since using M-I-O-na they have made noticeable gain in flesh, can eat what they want, and when they want, without fear of suffering.

Remember that you risk nothing in buying M-I-O-na. If it gives you the desired effect the cost is trifling. If it fails Peoples Drug Co. will pay for the remedy.

Who Knows This Man?

forty years ago
Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday, July 22, 1863.—The report of Morgan's capture was incorrect. He is yet at large, in Clinton county, O., with 500 followers. It is scarcely possible for him to escape.

An official dispatch from General Grant states that Johnston has retreated in great disorder from Jackson, Miss., and that Gen. Sherman has occupied the place as headquarters.

Gen. Ransome has captured much booty at Natchez, consisting of 5000 head of cattle, 4000 hogheads of sugar, large quantities of ammunition, and several cannon.

The draft is progressing quietly in New England. It was said that everybody took their lot gracefully and good naturedly. In Springfield the drawing was usually well distributed among all classes of society. Several ministers, lawyers, and bankers were drawn.

A negro was pursued on Tuesday by a howling mob of thirty or forty bent on killing him—of course for no reason, except that he was a negro. Hundreds of cowards saw it, and stirred not. But there was one man, not a coward. He ran forward, threw his arm about the negro, faced the mob, drew his revolver and announced: "The first man who approaches dies." And saved him. The Gazette's Vicksburg correspondent says: "During the campaign of sixty-four days, ending with the capture of Vicksburg, the rebels lost in killed and wounded, and prisoners, 43,700 men. About 71,000 stand of arms were taken including nearly 50,000 Enfield rifles in their packages, which were intended for the rebel army across the Mississippi, and about 230 pieces of artillery.

PRONOUNCES POPE LEO TO BE REALLY DEAD

Cardinal Oreglia Performs the Ceremony as Camerlingo and Makes Announcement.

Rome, July 22.—Official announcement of the death of Pope Leo XIII. was made by Cardinal Oreglia, dean of the sacred college, yesterday forenoon. For this ceremony the camerlingo, the temporary head of the Catholic church, put off his official robes and garbed himself in violet. Then, silver mallet in hand, he headed the procession of Cardinals to the death chamber.

The chamber had been transformed into a kind of mortuary chapel, with the altar at one end and in the center a crucifix, surrounded by six lighted candles.

So lifelike was the Pope's appearance as Cardinal Oreglia removed the veil which covered the face that those present half expected to see his hand raised in the familiar gesture of benediction.

"Gloachino, Gloachino, Gloachino," said the Cardinal camerlingo, repeating the late pontiff's Christian name three times in a loud and solemn voice.

Then, turning to the assembled Cardinals, he announced in Latin: "The Pope is really dead."

The recitation of the profundis by the ranking Cardinals, the granting of absolution, and the sprinkling of holy water followed.

The removal from his holiness' finger of the Fisherman's ring, a stone said to have descended from St. Peter himself, completed the ceremony. The emblem of papal authority will be retained by the camerlingo until the new Pope is chosen, when it will be presented to him.

BOY FINDS A BEAUTIFUL PEARL

Largest Fresh-Water Gem on Record Discovered Near Genoa, Wis.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., July 22.—The largest fresh-water pearl on record was found at Genoa, Wis., by Frank Hastings and brought to this city by his father, Willis Hastings. It is white and weighs 185 grains. It measures fifteen-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. Frank Hastings, the boy, who is 17 years of age, found it in a mussel shell while in a boat fishing. A local jeweler, bought it as it came from the shell for $2,575. It was incased in an irregular shell-like substance, which when removed disclosed the beautiful pearl. Its real value is said to be from $12,000 to $15,000.

UNION REPLIES TO ROOSEVELT

Bookbinders Frame Up an Answer in the Case of W. A. Miller.

Washington, July 22.—The case of W. A. Miller, assistant foreman in the bindery of the government printing office, who was expelled from the Bookbinders' union and who was reassigned to duty by President Roosevelt's order, came up at a meeting of the union, with 500 members present. After a secret session President Barrett of the union announced that a statement of the case from the union standpoint would be made. Copies of this are to be furnished to President Roosevelt, Secretary Cortelyou, the civil service commission and Public Printer Palmer. Mr. Barrett said the paper would show that the position of the Bookbinders' union was correct in the case and that the reinstatement of Miller would cause discord.

To Let—A Beggar's Stand.
Benjamin C. Marsh, whom the University of Pennsylvania has recently appointed to a fellowship for the study of the tramp question, has a strange clipping from an old Scottish newspaper. The clipping comes under the head of "Business Opportunities," and it reads: "To let, a beggar's stand in a good, charitable neighborhood, bringing 30 shillings a week. Some good will is required. N. B.—A dog for a blind man also to be disposed of."

Polonium.
The latest metal discovered, polonium, gives off a steady light and intercepts currents of electricity. It is said that a collar button of polonium would be a protection against light, and also serve as a headlight at night.

FARMER SLAYS HIS OFFSPRING
OLD MAN MAY LOSE HIS REASON

Flee to Daughter's House and Tells of His Crime, After Which He Starts to Give Himself up—Sight of Cell Brings Remorse.

Joliet, Ill., July 22.—John Gatons, Sr., a white-haired man aged 71 years, shot and almost instantly killed his son, John Gatons, aged 31 years, in a quarrel over Mrs. Gatons, the wife of the younger man, whom the father did not like. Immediately after firing the fatal shot the old man ran to the home of his married daughter, half a mile away, told her what he had done, gave up his pistol and started toward Joliet with the intention of delivering himself up to the authorities.

Overcome by Remorse.

Deputy sheriffs who had been notified of the crime by telephone were on their way to the scene of the murder when they met John Gatons and placed him under arrest. He submitted calmly and said he had shot his son. He was hurried to the jail. A large crowd had collected in the vicinity to witness his arrival, and the deputies to avoid trouble took the prisoner in by the rear entrance. The enormity of his offense came upon Gatons when the iron doors clanged behind him, and he gave way to grief and remorse, calling the name of his son over and over, declaring he loved him and cursing himself for his terrible deed. It was necessary to call a physician in order to quiet the old man. The doctor expressed the opinion that Gatons would go insane.

Objects to Father-in-Law.

A quarrel between the two over the son's wife was the direct cause of the shooting. Young Gatons was married five or six years ago to Miss Coulhan, a daughter of a wealthy farmer living near Alton. The old man did not like his daughter-in-law and the two did not get along well together. Some years ago the father gave the care of the farm to his two sons, John and Fred, the latter being unmarried, and the two worked the place together, the father living in Joliet.

Two months ago the old farmer went to his place, reserved a room for himself and said he was going to stay. Mrs. John Gatons objected to his presence and went home for a long visit. Recently she came back and the feud between the old man and the daughter-in-law was renewed, the son finally taking a hand and defending his wife.

Kills His Son.

Mrs. Gatons was feeling ill and when the noon hour arrived she was upstairs in bed while her husband prepared dinner. The father taunted him with the uselessness of a wife who could not even cook the dinner and the young man replied sharply and threatened to drive his father from the house. Then in an outburst of passion the old man drew a revolver and shot his son through the heart. The shot alarmed Mrs. Gatons and she hurried downstairs to find her husband dying. Their little daughter, an only child, came running in, adding to the grief of the tragedy. The victim lived about five minutes after the shooting.

THREE ARE SHOT IN A FIGHT

Poker Game in Kentucky Cause of a Deadly Conflict.

Jackson, Ky., July 22.—In a desperate fight at Cave Run schoolhouse, three miles east of Jackson, three were severely hurt. James and William Barrett and Mack Howard and his 14-year-old son were the principals. A bullet from James Barrett's pistol lodged in the abdomen of James Vires, aged 12, who was sitting at his desk in the schoolhouse. Mack Howard was shot in the arm and his elbow was shattered. James Barrett was shot in the head with buckshot and his skull was fractured. The civil authorities declined to take action and two details of soldiers were sent into the country to make arrests. Captain Foley's posse arrested the Howards and details under Lieutenant MacLeod overtook the Barretts several miles from the scene of the shooting. Mack Howard was too seriously hurt to be brought to town, but the others were landed in jail here.

BIG TRUST IN CANNED GOODS

New York Concern Absorbs Plants and Plans to Raise Prices.

Lockport, N. Y., July 22.—If the canning trust just organized in western New York succeeds in its alleged aim to control prices in the United States canned fruit and vegetables will be much higher. The first move of the proposed trust, which, it is reported, will extend its operations to other states, was revealed in the records of the county clerk's office, involving nearly $1,000,000 as the first process of absorption. The Erie Preserving company of Buffalo gained control of the vegetable and fruit canning factories in Lockport, Lewiston, North Collins, East Hamburg, Farnham and Fenton. These plants are the principal and largest factories in the garden sections of western New York.

All on Fire.

A Janesville Citizen Tells How Relief Came.

Ever have Eczema?
Have any itching skin diseases?
Itching almost drives you crazy?
You feel "all on fire"?
Doan's Ointment brings quick relief;
Cures Eczema, Itching Piles and all itchiness of the skin.

Mr. L. Lawrence of 408 S. Franklin St., engineer at the Janesville Electric Co., says: "I tried about everything recommended for it. Itches of the skin but found nothing to give me relief until I struck Doan's Ointment at the People's Drug Store. I had an affection of the skin. My face itched and annoyed me, and rubbing it only made it worse and made it sore. I could hardly stand shaving for the skin broke and bled. A few applications of Doan's Ointment removed the itching and healed up my face in a few days. I would not be without the remedy in my house and I certainly recommend it to others in need of such a preparation."

For sale by all dealers; price 50 cents. Foster—Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.
